Casa Viva Pinot Noir, Chile

$19.99

Chile is turning out some terrific Pinot Noir and this is one them. It's inexpensive but it doesn't taste like it. It's loaded with bright, zesty red berry flavours and there's a hint of freshly turned soil that keeps things interesting. It's a great match for roast duck.

William Fevre Le Mision Cabernet Sauvignon, Chile

$17.99

Another Chilean wine and another outstanding value. This has significantly more depth and power than most value priced Cabernets. The notes black currants, cassis and mocha make for a delicious Cabernet that's very well priced. It's a terrific steak wine.

Cortes de Cima Chamine, Alentejano, Portugal

$21.99

Portugal is often the source of incredible deals and this is one of the best deals we have come across. The wine is a blend of Aragonez, Syrah and Touriga Nacional and it's an elegant yet powerful wine, with notes of dark berries, minerals and earth. This is a seriously good wine.

Zonin Ripasso, Veneto Italy

$21.99

This relatively unknown wine is possibly the best Ripasso you have never heard of. It has wonderful texture and loads of personality, with notes of plum, fig, raisins and chocolate. The wine also has wonderful texture and is a great food wine.

Feudi di San Gregorio Ognissole, Puglia, Italy

$21.99

This Primitivo based wine will remind you of Zinfandel (Primitivo is closely related to Zin). But the personality of the wine is all Italian. It's ripe and bursting with wild berry flavours and exotic spice notes but there's good acidity and, unlike many Zins, it's a great food wine.

Castleforte Pinot Grigio, Veneto, Italy

$14.99

Pinot Grigio is wildly popular these days and it's easy to see why. This wine has lots of bright, fresh citrus flavours, with good acidity and a crisp, refreshing finish. It's easy to drink and it pairs with almost everything.
